Jerry attended Rockland Community College and studied theater and stage management. He continued his studies at Texas A&M until he was drafted into the United States Army in 1968. While Jerry jokes that he is "Rockland County's least successful draft dodger", he was quite successful in completing extensive and grueling training and became a Sergeant with the US Army Rangers. While in Vietnam, Jerry and his patrol were ambushed. After being wounded several times in the arm and leg, Jerry was at least happy to be alive. Soon after, however, the enemy threw a grenade into his foxhole. While the rest of his patrol was able to scramble Jerry was too badly injured to move. He threw his pack on top of the bomb. The explosion threw him completely out of the foxhole. Jerry's left arm and leg were badly torn apart while his right arm sustained a compound fracture and his right leg below the knee was completely missing. They had to wait for the night to pass before the helicopters could come in safely. Jerry always said that the sound of the rotors at dawn that morning was the sweetest thing he ever heard. After many surgeries and endless physical therapy at Valley Forge Hospital, Jerry was able to finally move home to be with his wife and young son, Sean. In 1970, a day after he returned home, Jerry began to work for Rockland Community College as their stage manager. In 1973, Jerry became stage manager at the Theater-Go-Round in Nanuet which ultimately led him to becoming a stage manager at the Westchester Premier Theater. This is where he met Frank Sinatra. And so, began an 11- year career as Frank Sinatra’s stage manager where Jerry traveled around the world and met many wonderful actors and entertainers. In 1986 Jerry decided to take a different career path. He had just recently learned that more soldiers had committed suicide than had died in the Vietnam War. He was hired by then County Executive John Grant as an entry level Veterans Counselor and began to work in the county's Veterans Agency Office. In 1992, Jerry was appointed Commissioner of Veterans Affairs and held that position until this past January 2018 when he retired after 30 years of service to our Veterans and their families. During his tenure as Veterans Director, his many accomplishments include creating the local Chapter #333 of the Vietnam Veterans of America of which he was a Life Member, opening the 1st Rockland County Veterans Homeless Shelter, creating the Camp Shanks Museum, and opening the first VA clinic in the United States. Jerry was also the creator of the annual Memorial Day "Watch Fires". Each year on Memorial Day, 3 separate fires are lit around the county. These fires were fashioned after those lit by General George Washington's army during the Revolutionary War. Jerry served on numerous boards throughout Rockland including the Salvation Army, Rockland Community College Foundation, the United Way, Dominican college, to name just a few. He was also the recipient of countless awards and medals of honor for his many years of faithful service. Jerry Donnellan will best be remembered by his strong yet eloquent voice and speeches, his poignant and thought-provoking writing, and his unending love, loyalty and devotion for his friends, family and fellow Veterans. Jerry is survived by his Best Friend and Beloved Wife MariEllyn Dykstra-Donnellan and two adoring sons, Sean Donnellan (Candice), of Los Angeles and James Thurston (Angela), of Valley Cottage. He will be missed by his three beautiful Grandchildren Isla, Alec and Bella. Jerry's 150 lb. dog, "Ducks", also survives him and is totally lost without him. Jerry is predeceased by his sister Ellie Yule, sister in law Madge Donnellan and Sean's Mother Deborah Partridge. He is survived by his brothers Donald Donnellan, Jim (Sue) Donnellan and sister Kathleen Donnellan. In addition, Jerry will be wildly missed by many nieces and nephews. Uncle Jerry was loads of fun, "a professional bad example" and their absolute favorite Uncle who was larger than life. Visitation hours were held at the Joseph W. HAROLD K. GRAVES, JR. – Died peacefully Tuesday, January 30, 2018 in Nevada City, California at the age of 76, in the arms of his loving wife, Patricia. The cause of death was cancer. He was born on May 15, 1941 in Louisville, Kentucky. Six weeks later, he and his father, mother and older sister moved to Chickasha, Oklahoma. After four years, they moved to Bartlesville, Oklahoma, where he spent his childhood managing the neighborhood group of children. On any warm summer day, as five or six kids stood in a circle and one asked, "What can we do today?" the whole group looked at Harold. He always had a plan. Some people are born to be excellent followers. A few are born to be leaders. Harold Graves was a leader. In 1952, the family moved to Berkeley, California where he started the sixth grade and then continued, graduating from Berkeley High School. Harold was a leader in the Sea Scouts for several years. The family moved to Mill Valley, California in 1959. His military life began with basic training at Fort Ord, California. He was chosen for Officers Candidate School in Georgia, and then went through Jump School and Ranger School. His leadership abilities were evident in 1966 when he was sent to Vietnam and was assigned to the 25th Infantry Division at Cu Chi. His first assignment was with the 2nd of the 27th Infantry Wolfhounds where he had the first platoon in A company. Then, he took over Battalion Recon and was used as a fourth company. He was awarded the Silver Star for conspicuous gallantry-in-action while leading his men in an attack against a strong North Vietnamese force after being pinned down in intense enemy fire. Though wounded, he led his men in an assault on a bunker, while encouraging his men to follow him. He then directed the evacuation of other wounded to the rear. In February '67, he became the Aide-de-Camp to the new Assistant Division Commander, BG Edward Flannigan. Two months later they moved into Westmoreland's Villa in Saigon. General Flannigan had become the Special Assistant to General Westmoreland and it turned out that Harold's only job was to set out the name tags for the evening meal. At his request, he left the next day and went back to the 25th Division and took over the job as Aide-de-Camp to the other ADC, General Don Bolton. He finished out his tour flying every day with General Bolton. During his service, he received the Silver Star, Bronze Star, Purple Heart, Viet Nam Service Ribbon, Cross of Gallantry with Silver Star, Air Medal with 11 OLC, and Combat Infantry Badge. After active duty, he returned to Mill Valley, obtained his Broker's License in Real Estate and managed an office for a large real estate company. He was again, a leader in several capacities during this time, President of the Mill Valley Jaycees, President of the Mill Valley Chamber of Commerce, President of the Mill Valley Rotary Club and President of the Marin County Board of Realtors. He served on the '71-'72 Marin County Grand Jury where they deliberated the fate of Angela Davis and the San Quentin Six. In 1980 he took a complete 180 and decided on early retirement, dropping out of all the organizations with which he had been so completely involved. In September of 2001 he and his wife, Patricia, bought a home in Nevada City, and he became very involved in the community. He loved living in Nevada County and was most proud of the way veterans were made to feel particularly welcome. He joined and became a Life Member of Vietnam Veterans of America – Grass Valley Chapter #535, in 2002 and served as their President for a total of four years. He was also a proud honorary member of the Blue Knight Law Enforcement Motorcycle Club where he made many true and loyal friends. Their many rides across the U.S. were some of the highlights of his life. Harold will be forever remembered by the 'love of his life' his wife, Patricia, and his loving daughters Jennifer (Mark) and Kerry (Geheris), and his four wonderful grandchildren, Katy, Rebecca, Taylor and Ashley. He will also be truly missed by his sister, Nancy, his nephew Scott (Kristen), his niece Stacey (David) and several great nieces and nephews. Among those who will forever remember him are his loyal friends, Stu Fisher, Wells Rasmussen, Bob Troutt and Chris Lopiccolo. Many thanks go to James E. Irons, MD, of the VA Sierra Foothills Outpatient Clinic in Auburn, who was not only his doctor but also his friend, and to the wonderful staff of Hospice of the Foothills, particularly his nurse, Erica. ROBERT EARL “Bob” THURSTON (USA, MSG-Ret.) - Died Saturday, November 4, 2017 in Jacksonville, Arkansas at the age of 72. The cause of death was Agent Orange-related kidney cancer. He was born on September 9, 1945 in Forrest City, Arkansas to the late Floyd and Ruby Thurston-Jones. He graduated from Lincoln High school in Forrest City, Arkansas. In 1968 he was drafted into the United States Army. Robert also known to some as Bob, Thurston and Master Sergeant accepted Christ as his Savior and was baptized at Taylor’s Chapel CME Church in Forrest City, Arkansas. On July 19, 1991 Robert and Linda were united in holy matrimony. He loved his wife and supported her in her career as an Education Professional. Robert enjoyed spending time with his grandchildren, always taking advantage of teachable moments, giving lessons on morals, values, and good old hard work; in that “Grandpa Thurston” though love style. He was a member of the American Legion Post #1, where he and buddies would hang out once a month, swapping stories (as he called it flapping their jaws) and having lunch. He was a Life Member of Vietnam Veterans of America – Sherwood Chapter #184. He was also a faithful and supportive member of Saint Mark Community Church, Jacksonville, Arkansas, under the leadership of Reverend Al Romes. Robert was a proud Vietnam War combat veteran who always flew the American flag at his home. He served with the 5th Mechanized Infantry Division, 1/77th Armor Battalion, 1968-1969, “Steel Tigers”. He was awarded the Bronze star for combat service, Vietnam Service Medal, Vietnam Campaign Medal, Republic of Vietnam Gallantry Cross w/Palm Unit Citation, Marksman Badge W/Auto Rifle Bar, and the Overseas Service Ribbon. Other awards include the Army Service Ribbon, Army Reserve Components Achievement Meal w/4 Bronze Oak leaf cluster, Army Force Reserve Medal w/ Silver Hour Glass, Army Commendation Medal with 2 Bronze Leaf Clusters, Army Achievement Medal with 1 Silver Oak Leaf Cluster, Army Reserve Components Overseas Training Ribbon, Nation Defense Service Medal, Driver/Mechanic Badge, Overseas Ribbon, NCO Professional Development Ribbon with 3 Bronze Oak Leaf Cluster, Superior Civilian Service Medal and the Department of the Army Achievement Medal. Master Sergeant Thurston was a proud, fair, professional soldier who respected the mission of the Army and believed in serving God, Country and Family. Master Sergeant Thurston retired as Battalion Maintenance Supervisor with the United States Army Reserves in 1996 after 29 years of service. Additionally, he was employed and retired as Supervisor for the Area Maintenance Support Activity (ASMA) for the State of Arkansas at Camp Pike, United States Army Reserves in 2005. After retirement, Thurston was able to have more time for his favorite hobbies. He was a self-taught carpenter, with a passion for building things and gardening. He was a handyman, who was often called upon to use his skills of building, repairing, and advising his friends when needed. Thurston was the “Go-To-Person” before “Google Me” and “You Tube.” A frequent shopper of Lowes, and other home improvement stores, he knew exactly where to find all the bargains, especially for lumber and bags of cement. Truly a helping hand, many family and friends benefited from his kind heart and skillful hands. Thurston took pride in his work and helping others. Bob was an outspoken and “matter of fact” type man to those who knew him well. He told things exactly like it was, as he perceived them to be, without any sugar coating. To some this may have seemed harsh and you may not have agreed, but upon serious reflection of his words, many would conclude that he was right most of the time. He was a hardworking man and love to work with his hands, thus he would always say “as long as you have a house there is always something to be done,” which is why he was never bored. If you have ever been to his and Linda’s home, you will see proof of this fact from the inside to the outside. Thurston was often described by family and close friends as “the life of the party,” as he often shared his quick and witty responses regarding politics and life experiences. He was definitely “one of a kind,” with a million-dollar smile that will forever and will always be embedded in the hearts and memories of those who loved him. Thurston leaves to cherish his memory: his loving wife Linda, who he truly loved; his stepsons, Mose Rice (Barbie), of Richardson, TX, Michael Mahone, of Jacksonville, AR; his sister Rogenia Beavers (Archie), of Saint Louis, MO, Floydia Williams, of Forrest City, AR, Benita Meeks, of Paramount, CA, Shelia Woods, of Saint Louis, MO, and Theresa Washington (Richard), of Minneapolis, MN; his brothers, Floyd Thurston, of MN, John Thurston, of Iowa; his grandchildren, Madison, Mason, Kylynne, and Ian; a special cousin, Betty Cummings, of Saint Louis, MO, and; a host of nieces, nephews, cousins, other relatives and friends. He was preceded in death by his father Floyd Thurston, Minneapolis, MN, his mother Reverend Ruby Jones, of Saint Louis, MO, and his brother, Jeffery Thurston, of MN. We take great comfort in the precious moments and memories he shared with us. Thurston, you are already deeply missed. ROBERT H. YANCEY, SR. - Died Tuesday, September 19, 2017 in Burlington, New Jersey at the age of 92. The cause of death is unknown. He was born in Philadelphia, Pennsylvania on August 9, 1925. He is survived by his son, Robert H. Yancey, Jr. He was drafted into the United States Navy on October 4, 1943. The Navy was so short of men in 1943 that Yancey was not even sent to “boot camp” for basic training; he received all his instruction aboard the ships he was assigned to. The first ship he was stationed on was the USS Alantina, where he served as a cook. In 1943, the only two jobs available to African-American sailors were those of cook or steward, the latter a waiter for the officers' mess; although, cooks and stewards were often assigned additional duties. Yancey spent six months aboard the Alantina, training not only as a cook but as a member of a torpedo defense detachment. He was then transferred to Patrol Craft 1600, in Norfolk, VA. PC-1600 subsequently sailed to the Pacific, where the first action Yancey saw was an attack by Japanese kamikaze pilots. Although a cook, he was cross-trained and manned a battle station as an anti-aircraft gunner on the vessel's top deck. Yancey’s ship was involved in the invasion of the Philippines at Leyte and Luzon. He recalled that he gained great respect for the Filipino guerrilla fighters; he believed that without their assistance the United States would have had a much tougher time defeating the Japanese on the islands. Yancey spent the remainder of the war in the Pacific, participating in an additional landing at Mindoro in the Philippines, and in the invasion of Okinawa, with a stop at New Guinea. At the close of the war, Yancey was sent to Puerto Rico, as part of CB (Construction Battalion) 1615. There he worked unloading ships and coordinating transport of ammunition to storage on the island of Saint Thomas, remaining in Puerto Rico until his discharge on December 31, 1947. Upon returning home to Philadelphia, Yancey joined the United States Navy Reserves. He had always liked the idea of being a police officer and decided to pursue that career, so he enrolled at the Institute of Criminology in Philadelphia, with the hope of eventually becoming a detective. Yancey graduated in 1950, but shortly after graduation he received a notice of readiness for a call back to active duty. Since the Korean War was just beginning, Yancey thought he would certainly see some action. After spending four years at sea, though, he decided he had seen enough water and joined the Army. As a World War II veteran, he only had to complete eight weeks of basic training at Fort Dix, New Jersey, foregoing the additional eight weeks of advanced training mandated for other recruits.
Following basic training, he was immediately promoted to sergeant and assigned to “C” Company of the 24th Infantry Regiment, part of the 25th Infantry Division. The Twenty-fourth was among the last of the Army’s segregated all-African-American units, known popularly as “Buffalo Soldiers.” Sergeant Yancey was sent to Pusan, Korea, where he was reassigned to the regiment’s Headquarters Company. The North Koreans continued to attack the Pusan Perimeter, while the Americans built up their forces in the late summer of 1950. The Twenty-fourth was later awarded the Republic of Korea Presidential Citation for its defense of the perimeter. Two members of the regiment were posthumously awarded the Medal of Honor. When the American army broke out of the Pusan Perimeter following the US Marine landing at Inchon, the 25th Division was the spearhead of the army’s advance. The 24th Regiment was often the division’s spearhead unit, launching reconnaissance missions into enemy territory. In late November 1950, the Twenty-fourth moved towards the Yalu River in North Korea, and at the end of the month made initial contact with elements of the Chinese Communist army, which subsequently launched a massive attack over the North Korean border, tumbling the Americans southward. In the fighting that ensued, the Twenty-fourth lost more than a third of its men. Sergeant Yancey described fighting the Chinese and North Koreans as “complete chaos.” The Chinese were very good at infiltration and would often penetrate the American front lines and surround individual units. The mountainous terrain made holding a secure front line even more difficult. Moving supplies to the front was a long and dangerous process and getting the wounded out to safety was equally difficult; each stretcher required six men to carry it and was accompanied by four riflemen for protection. Front line units suffered heavy casualties and received constant replacements, but many of the new soldiers were unprepared for combat, because the Army, in desperate need of men, was shipping them overseas before they were adequately trained. Weather conditions in Korea added another degree of difficulty to the military mission. During the winter, daytime temperatures hovered around thirty degrees Fahrenheit, and at night would drop to thirty or forty degrees below zero. Some soldiers froze to death in their sleep. Yancey remembered that it was necessary to gather sticks, leaves or anything available to put under a tent to provide some insulation and reduce the chance of freezing. On one occasion, he developed such a bad case of frostbite on his feet that his boots needed to be cut off. The injury resulted in him being declared unfit for infantry duty, and today he receives a 100% disability for the chronic condition that developed because of the frostbite. In October 1951 the battered, bloodied Twenty-Fourth Regiment was inactivated, and the survivors were withdrawn from Korea to Sasebo, Japan aboard a transport ship. Midway through the trip, the ship was caught in a typhoon and driven onto a coral reef, where it was stranded. The ship was taking on water fast and Yancey, the only soldier on board with naval experience and training in dealing with disasters at sea, acted quickly, organizing men to keep the ship afloat until help arrived. After three days, Navy rescue ships reached the vessel, rescued the passengers and crew and conveyed them to Sasebo. Tragedy again struck the men of the luckless Twenty-fourth on the way home from Japan, as a plane transporting some of them crashed into the Pacific. Yancey’s luck held, though; although he was supposed to be on board that aircraft, he had fortunately missed the flight. On returning to the United States, Sergeant Yancey was transferred from the infantry to the military police and stationed at Fort Benning, Georgia. Although desegregation of the military (initiated in 1948) was completed during the Korean War, racism continued, especially on bases in Southern states that still had legal civilian segregation. A major informed Sergeant Yancey that even though he was a military policeman, he was not authorized to stop or question white soldiers -- for any reason. Growing up in Philadelphia, Yancey had never experienced the level of racism that he encountered in Georgia. He recalled, however, that he would not let himself give into negativity and continued to do his job to the best of his ability. On one occasion, he broke up a fight between four soldiers, two of whom were white and two black. A civilian police officer ordered Yancey to hand over the soldiers; Yancey refused and took the men back to their barracks. The major had Yancey arrested for pulling his firearm on a civilian and threatened him with court-martial. After thirty days under house arrest, Yancey was able to tell his side of the story to the colonel in charge of the military police (provost marshal). The colonel expressed outrage at the major's behavior and immediately released Yancey from arrest and returned him to duty. Conflict with the major continued; however, and by 1953 Yancey had had enough of it and asked the colonel to send him back to Korea. The colonel resolved the problem by transferring both, sending Yancey to Mannheim, Germany, where he was assigned to an ordnance unit processing old American army vehicles that were being transferred to NATO forces. Yancey described the job as, “not being right for him,” and he recalled that his superiors criticized him for “being too hard on his subordinates.” After his stint in Germany, Yancey returned to the United States and was assigned to an infantry basic training unit at Fort Sam Houston, Texas, as the only African-American noncommissioned officer in the outfit. His job was to train drafted conscientious objectors for noncombat duties. Again, he was criticized for being too hard on his subordinates. Yancey, however, remembering his combat experience in Korea, maintained that “he was hard on them to train them to be ready for the harshest battle situations.” Yancey's next assignment was to a medical unit attached to the 809th Engineer Battalion, which was building railroads in rural areas of Thailand. He subsequently served in Vietnam from 1967 to 1969 in the Medical Service Corps, where he oversaw transporting patients from the battlefield to field hospitals in the Phu Tai Valley, near Qui Nhon. In his two years of duty in Vietnam, Yancey never lost a patient, and he was awarded the Bronze Star for his service there. Sergeant Yancey retired from the Army in 1971, settled in New Jersey and received degrees in Behavioral Psychology and History. After graduation he worked as a teacher at Trenton State Prison, instructing inmates in social studies, and later became State Coordinator for Behavioral Modification in the New Jersey prison system, where he worked for twenty years, attempting to inculcate life lessons he had learned himself in a long and distinguished military career. He remembered that the most important lessons he had learned, however, came from his father, which he summed up as to “always treat others the way you want to be treated, and to never give in to negativity.” He said that it was those simple rules that allowed him to deal with life itself and to overcome the racism that he had encountered along the way. After retiring from the prison system, Robert Yancey offered his services as a volunteer, performing the same job he had as an employee, for two or three days a week, which he continues. He told the interviewer that he believes it is a veteran’s duty to share his or her experiences with and teach younger generations. He is currently the State Commander of the Disabled American Veterans, and he strongly encourages all veterans to share their stories with others. He was a Life Member of Vietnam Veterans of America – Bordentown Chapter #899. A memorial service was held in his honor at 11:00 AM on Thursday, September 28, 2017 at the Fountain of Life Center, 2035 Columbus Road, Florence, NJ 08518. "Rest in peace, soldier, job well done!" family's request, those wishing to donate in Mr. Yancey's name may forward to Stand Down of South Jersey, PO Box 2612, Cherry Hill, NJ 08034.

RONALD S. “Ron” ZULKIEWSKI – Died Sunday, February 18, 2018 in Skandia, Michigan at the age of 71. The cause of death is unknown. Ron was born on January 1, 1947 in Petoskey, Michigan to the late John and Irene (née Dubell) Zulkiewski. He was a 1964 graduate of Pellston High School. Ron began his service to our country in 1966 when he joined the United States Air Force. He dedicated twenty-five years of his life to our nation, which included two tours of active duty in Vietnam. While enlisted, he received the Unit Award with Valor Device and 4 oak leaf clusters, amongst other awards and recognitions. In 1991, Ron retired from the Air Force and went to work for Proctor and Gamble as a sales representative. He also worked for Ramrod, where he built hydraulic cylinders. Though he was retired from the military, the effects of Ron’s exposure to Agent Orange while in Vietnam continued to plague his health and ultimately took his life. On May 2, 1970, Ron married the love of his life and best friend, Sharon Leis of Cheboygan. They were married at Ron’s “home” parish of Saint Nicholas Church in Larks Lake, Michigan. The couple have a home in Larks Lake, where they enjoyed vacationing, visiting, and spending time with family and friends. The most important thing in Ron’s life was family and his faith. Ron and Sharon’s lives were blessed with the birth of their son, Ronnie Zulkiewski, on April 14, 1975. Their hearts were shattered when Ronnie Zulkiewski, M.D. passed away on June 23, 2009. It was their faith that saw them through that loss, as well as the health challenges that Ron faced in the past several years. Ron was a member of Saint Louis the King Catholic Church in Harvey, Michigan. Throughout his life Ron participated in many sports, many of which were for Air Force Base teams. He enjoyed softball, basketball, and bowling. His love for golf led to him creating his own 18-hole Yooper Golf Course on Martin Lake. Other hobbies that Ron enjoyed were hunting, fishing, and playing cards. He was also a Life Member of the following agencies: Vietnam Veterans of America – Negaunee Chapter #380, American Legion, Veterans of Foreign Wars, and Disabled American Veterans. Ron leaves behind his wife of 47 years, Sharon. He is also survived by his brother-in-law, Gregory (Monica) Leis of Cheboygan; and sisters-in-law Sheryl (Walt) Briggs, of Copemish; and Shelly Deemer, of Traverse City. He will be dearly missed by his brother, Brian (Tonya) Shurtleff of Pellston and sister, Karen Bowman of Harbor Springs. Ron is also survived by two aunts, and numerous nieces, nephews, and cousins. In addition to his son, Ron was preceded in death by both of his parents. A Funeral Mass took place Saint Nicholas Catholic Church in Larks Lake. The family is being attended by the Canale-Tonella Funeral Home of Marquette, Michigan. Donations may be made in Ron’s name to a charity of your choice. The world will feel quite empty without him in it, though we know that whenever we might need him, we can look up, and he will be there. So now, Ron, husband, brother, uncle, cousin and friend, go and rest in peace. May you find the joy and comfort that you provided to each of us in your ever after. Godspeed.

ETERNAL REST GRANT UNTO THEM O LORD! AND LET PERPETUAL LIGHT SHINE UPON THEM! MAY THEY REST IN PEACE! AMEN! MAY THEIR SOULS AND THE SOULS OF ALL THE FAITHFUL DEPARTED, THROUGH THE MERCY OF GOD, REST IN PEACE! AMEN!
